It's my intention that this idea should be a part of the public domain and should never be patented.

This document was first created on Thursday, April 14, 2016 and was most recently revised on Friday, April 23, 2021.

This idea was posted on the internet, and was declared to be public domain, on Thursday, April 14, 2016.

This document is approximately 137 words long.

Don't throw away that old swing set when the kids grow up and move away. It can be converted into a storage frame. I'm using mine to store some stuff that was previously hanging dangerously overhead, from ropes.

Here are two pictures that I took on the day that I first started using it.

Here are two pictures of the stuff where it was hanging before I started using the storage frame.