We got up and reported on time this morning. Have to cross the river to get to our base. We were issued our uniforms this morning. Could not get all of them. We will have to get the rest of them later. Worked all afternoon stenciling and rolling them. Did not get through. Came across the river and went to a little coffee shop and talked to a couple of the cutest little girls I ever saw. Italian I think. - I can't understand half of what they say. Went up to the corner where they closed and talked & laughed for a few minutes. I went up in the Federal Bldg to 819 and got my first pay check. $9.00 Then Bill went up and got his. We came home and cleaned out our hill folds. We are just spending time now.

Today was rather uneventful until late this afternoon. I got my bank statement this morning. Tonight when we came home, the first thing Mr. Muey said was: which one of you boys got married last night? I thought he was kidding us. It seems that two little girls, about 16 or 17 said this morning that one of them got married last night and that her and her husband spent the night up in this hotel in his room. She said her marriage license was up here. She wanted to come up and Mr. Muey wouldn't let her. She was waiting tonight - out in front - when we got here. She didn't even know her husband's name. I talked to her and we found her husband. She was on the wrong street. His name was Joe Gallion. I saw them up town after I finished supper.

Went to my first classes today.

I have a sore throat and my eyes hurt.

No mail. I started to write a few letters, but I read a story.I must go to bed. I just can't think of anything to write.

DAY OF WEEK

Today is the Birthday of

Well, I did almost nothing today.
Lt. told us we had to fold our blankets
every day. - No smoking in barracks.
I turned out 2 plates in shop drawing.
Helped a lot of fellows with math.
Still no mail. - I am worried.
I don't like this place like I used to.

63RD DAY
302 DAYS TO COME,
DAY OF WEEK

Wednesday

Today is the Birthday of

It seems as if I have been here a month.
I learned today that I will have to stand a 2 hour watch. I don't know when. I got a letter from Helen,
one from Mamie and one from Louise.
She sounded rather sad and pensive.
We got our text books today.
Course surely is tough.
I have been studying algebra.
I must write to my girls.
Received an invitation and a ticket
to a puck rink Friday.
