

Random Acts of Stupidity, Incompetence, or Discourtesy Tricycle Roadblock

This document was first completed on Friday, September 9, 2005, and was most recently revised on Saturday, January 22, 2022.

For a while, I shared a house with another man, in Arizona. I hadn't been aware of it before we made the arrangement, but it turned out that he looked for ways to bait people into arguments. I took these pictures of the front sidewalk on Monday, July 16, 2007. He was probably the kind of kid who left his tricycle behind his father's car.

